Patients who present dermatitis with desquamation and ulcers.

Severe pain is generally associated with radiodermatitis. Patients developing such skin lesions are most probable to abandon the radiation therapy

Jalosome Soothing Gel

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION:

PATENTED medical device for the reduction of skin inflammation and associated pain.

FEATURES:

Recommended for skin irritation caused by antineoplastic chemotherapy, radiodermatitis, dermatitis, erythema and any type of skin irritation. The vesicular microstructures of the gel facilitate the penetration of the active ingredients through the stratum corneum. Reached the deep skin layers, the gel promotes the regenerative process of the skin.

USE:

- wash your hands thoroughly
- take a sufficient quantity of product, (each delivery, corresponding to 0.2 grams, is sufficient to treat 16 cm² of skin)
- apply the gel on the skin lesion
- gently massage in order to spread the product evenly
- repeat the treatment twice a day, until the problem is resolved,

Jalosome Hydrating Cream

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION:

Class II medical device, particularly suitable for tissue repair processes.

FEATURES:

Specifically designed for skin care at the end of the radiotherapy cycle, the product is also suitable for all cases of painful skin inflammation and irritation.

Thanks to the natural components present in Jalosome® Hydrating cream is indicated to:

- ›Restore the hydrophilic power of the skin
- ›Eliminate redness
- ›Reduce any lesions still present at the end of therapy

USE:

Due to its oil content, do not use during radiotherapy treatment
